

Visualizing a Hybrid or HyFlex Class Schedule

The following tables visualize course schedules based upon one's assigned days for a course, and the instructional model selected for Spring 2021. Please Note:

- The first day of classes is Thursday 21, January
- The last day of classes is Monday 3, May
- Exam period begins Tuesday 4, May and ends Friday 7, May

As with last semester, please refer to the WP Fall 2020 Instructional Plan for a detailed description of each model. Dates and the schedule options for Spring 2021 are as follows:

Hybrid Type 1 on a TR schedule \(T or R class also discussed\)

Hybrid Type 1 on a MWF schedule \(MW, WF, M, W, or F class also discussed\)

Hybrid Type 2 on a TR schedule \(T or R class also discussed\)

Hybrid Type 2 on a MWF schedule \(MW, WF, M, W, or F class also discussed\)

HyFlex on a TR schedule \(T or R class also discussed\)

HyFlex on a MWF schedule \(MW, WF, M, W, or F class also discussed\)

Hybrid Type 1 on a TR for 1,000 & 2,000 level courses¹

¹ Hybrid Type 1 courses that are 3,000, 4,000, and graduate level classes would start online Week 1 and then meet on campus for weeks 2, 4, 6, etc. For courses that meet only once/week, split students into two groups, half coming the first half of class and half coming the second half of class. T or R classes hold the on-campus meeting on the T or R respectively. Group assignments are by alpha order, split into two even sized groups. This ensures a coordinated reduction in volume and flow of students on the campus.

² Hybrid Type 1 courses that are 3,000, 4,000, and graduate level classes would start online Week 1 and then meet on campus for weeks 2, 4, 6, etc. On-campus meetings repeat material in a given week.
